The Immaculata Symphony is a university-community organization.

The Immaculata Symphony is an outstanding musical organization with a long and rich history. From the earliest days of the University's founding in 1920, the Music Department has included among its performing groups an orchestra which, over the years, has grown steadily from a fledgling group of chamber size to the large and highly respected symphonic ensemble it is today. As an integral part of the Music Department in its academic and musical offerings, the Symphony is also supported by its Board of Directors. This Board is composed of faculty members, student and community orchestra members, and non-performing community members. Its purpose is to help achieve the musical goals, prosperity, and growth of the orchestra through fundraising, audience development, and community service.
